THE LAST RITES.

Honors Paid to the Dead Czar in St. Petersburg.

CROWDS IN THE STREETS

Brutalities of the Cossack Soldiery to Unoffending Populace — How A Daring Petitioner Reached the Czar.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 19.—The body of the late Czar Alexander III. was placed in the tomb of his fathers beneath the fortress Cathedral of Saint Peter and Saint Paul to-day, 17 days after his death. The funeral services were the most elaborate of any similar services that have ever taken place in Russia, and the last rites were performed in the presence of an assemblage of royalty and agents of royalty such as has seldom or never congregated in similar circumstances under the roof of a sacred edifice. More than 30 members of European royal families were in attendance, and with their suites and the representatives of sovereigns who were unable to be present in person the monarchial representatives numbered several hundred. The ceremonies were conducted with all the pomp of which the ritual of the Greek church is capable and with the display that the Russian court could command. The streets were thronged with people throughout the day, and the utmost good order prevailed. No accidents were reported, despite the constantly surging crowd, and the troops charged with the duty of preserving order had nothing to do but to put themselves upon exhibition and endure the exactions of the cold, damp and altogether disagreeable weather until the funeral was over.

The Standard's correspondent in St. Petersburg gives a vivid description of the scene around the fortress during the last few days. He says:

"On Sunday afternoon the streets and squares presented the appearance of a vast camp. On the day of the arrival of the coffin, order was kept by mounted gendarmes, but that duty was now undertaken by Cossacks who, with knouts and the merciless heels of their wild horses, kept the roadways clear for carriages, regardless of the limbs or lives of the people. From the fortress gate for more than a mile in all directions stretched a seething, struggling, suffocating mass of human beings, whom even the Cossacks were unable to keep back. The fire engines were brought into play, their hose was dipped into the Neva, and a powerful jet of water was turned against the mob, which scattered like chaff, only to be forced back by the pressure behind. The Cossacks struck the people across the faces with great whips. In the scrimmage one man was killed by a kick and a boy was suffocated.

"Having with some difficulty fought my way out, I went to the Mitinsky bridge, near the bourse. Upon my right, in the front rank of the spectators, stood a man of about 45 years, dressed as a peasant and wearing a long beard. At 2:45 o'clock a closed state carriage passed, immediately followed by Czar Nicholas and the Grand Duke Michael in an open victoria. As they passed at a gentle trot the man above mentioned, with a couple of bounds sprang into the road, and, thrusting one hand under the breast of his coat, withdrew a packet, which he threw at the Czar, at whose feet it fell. The Czar started back, then coolly picked up the packet. The excitement of those standing around was at the highest point everybody believing that an attempt had beeen made upon the Czar's life. Instantly a dozen bystanders seized the offender and he was hustled off by gendearmes to the guard house. The entire occurrence occupied less time than it takes to write it. The Czar's carriage drove on amid the murmurs of the crowd. Subsequently it was announced that the packet contained a petition, and that the Czar had accepted the petition. Whether it was an ordinary petition is open to some doubt, the extraordinary coolness and adroitness of the man having raised a suspicion that his peasant's dress was a disguise. Although many persons witnessed the occurrence, there is not a word about it in any of the papers."

Proceedings of the Annual Convention at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 19.—The introduction of fraternal delegates was the first business in order at the afternoon session of the T. W. C. U. to-day. Among the ladies introduced was Miss Emma Bates, State superintendent of public instructions of North Dakota. She was greeted enthusiastically, and spoke briefly of the progress of the temperance and suffrage causes in the Northwest. The formal presentation of a gold medal to Wilbur Hill of Indiana, for the best essay on the department of mercy, was made. Anna M. Cummings, a native of South Africa, and president of the W. C. T. U. there, addressed the convention on the growth of the movement in that far-off country.

"The national temperance hospital," was the subject of Mrs. Mary B. Kline's address. She said that the Chicago hospital was one of the few institutions of that city which is not in debt, and probably the only hospital to claim the proud distinction. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $51.81. An effort will be made to secure a building fund, purchase ground and erect a structure suitable to its needs. Mrs. Matilda B. Carse spoke of The Temple, the Chicago headquarters of the union, and predicted that, notwithstanding the difficulties to be overcome, the temple would be out of debt within the next two years. A number of national organizers reported growth in various parts of the country, the California and Michigan reports being particularly encouraging. The evening session was devoted to exercises, commemorating the 21st anniversary of the union. Mrs. Henrietta L. Monroe, president of the Ohio organization, presided and the speakers were all Ohio women, many of whom were active in the original temperance crusade movement in 1853. Mother Thompson, who led the first crusade in this State, supported herself with a chair and told reminiscences of the early crusade days. Mrs. Thompson is over 80 years old, but made herself heard in every part of the vast hall. Other speakers were Mattie McClellan Brown of Cincinnati, Mrs. Mary B. Ingham of this city and Mrs. Jennie F. Willing.

The executive committee of the National Suffrage Association, most of whom are members of the W. C. T. U., met at the residence of Mrs. Southworth, a prominent suffragist, this afternoon and arranged for the annual convention in Atlanta, Ga., in February. Susan B. Anthony and Mrs. Chapman Catt of New York will represent the suffrage association on the executive board of the woman's council, which convenes in Washington February 18.

The indications are that Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens of Maine will be chosen to succeeded the late Mrs. Woodbridge as recording secretary.

KILLED IN THE WRECK.

A Disastrous Accident Caused by a Broken Axle.

Pittsburg, Nov. 19.—A disastrous railroad accident occurred at Larimer on a branch line of the Pennsylvania railroad about 25 miles east of this city at 4 o'clock this afternoon, in which it is believed four or five coal miners and probably more lost their lives.

The list of the dead as far as can be learned is as follows: Frank Rice, married; Fred Loyn, married; Fred Loyn, Jr., his son, aged 17.

The train wrecked consisted of 16 car loads of coal, and was just pulling out from the new Larimer mines, and on board were a number of miners. As it was crossing over a trestle near Larimer Station the axle on the second car broke down, the balance of the cars piling up in a heap which resulted in the breaking of the trestle and the whole mass of cars and human beings went down with a crash into the creek below. The miners on the train at the time were returning from work. The exact number of men cannot be learned positively. The railroad officials here say that four or five miners probably went down in the wreck, and the last report from Larimer stated that the body of Rice had been taken out of the mass of debris. The unfortunates who went down in the wreckage are undoubtedly dead.

The place where the wreck occurred is but a short distance from the main line of the Pennsylvania road. A wrecking train is on the scene in charge of the trainmaster of this city.

An Irwin, Pa., special says that there were eight miners on the train at the time of the accident, but does not give their names.

Stolen by Gypsies.

Matoon, Ills., Nov. 19.—Miss Ella Parse, who was last week restored to her parents after remaining a captive in the hands of a band of wandering gypsies for 15 months, was recaptured by the same band Saturday evening and spirited away. The Parse family reside near the northern limits of the city. Ella's gypsies camped near the Parse homestead and Ella's beauty inflamed the gypsy chief, Will Beaton, with passion. One night Ella was missing from home and the next morning the camp was found to have left. Ella was held captive and slave to Beaton. After wandering all over the West she was restored to her parents last Monday, having been rescued by a posse near Matoon. Saturday evening while Ella was alone in the house, a covered wagon drove to the door a man in woman's clothing was seen by a neighbor to enter the house and carry the screaming girl to the wagon and drive away. Pursuit has so far been fruitless. The girl is a physical wreck.

After a Bounty.

Washington, Nov. 19. Gen. J. L. Brent and G. E. Hamilton, counsel for the Miles Planing and Manufacturing Company of Louisiana, in its application for a writ of mandamus to compel Secretary Carlisle and Commissioner Miller of the internal revenue bureau to examine the plant of the company as a preliminary step in obtaining the sugar bounty for the present year, which it is claimed has been repealed by the new tariff act, today filed a brief in the District Court of Appeals from the decision of Judge McComas overruling the application for the court. The claims made by the appellants are that the provisions of the McKinley law authorizing the bounty to sugar producers and manufacturers are in full force and are left unrepealed by the new tariff act, and that the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury and commissioner of internal revenue involving the exercise of discretion as claimed by they and sustained by Judge McComas.

Sympathizers With Armenians.

Minneapolis, Nov. 19.—The recent massacres in Armenia have aroused deep sympathy for the people of that country which to-day resulted in the organization of the "Phil-Armenic Association of the Northwest." The object of the society is to create a sympathy and aid by its influence the people of Armenia. The society was organized through the efforts of Herant Mesrob Kiretchjian, secretary of the Persian exposition commission, and also a member of the parliament of religions. The society starts out with a large number of members, among whom are T. B. Walker, C. A. Pillsbury, Senator W. D. Washburn, Mayor Eustis and many of the most prominent citizens of the Northwest. The first official act of Mr. Kiretchjian was to address an appeal of President Cleveland in which he cites the inhuman outrages committed against the Armenians and the heroic martyrdom of Armenian women.

A Clue to Counterfeiters.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 19.—A clue was unexpectedly struck to-day that may lead to the detection of counterfeiters who have been flooding Central Ohio with spurious coin for the past six months. While tearing down an abandoned house on his farm, six miles northwest of Columbus, J. L. Dickey to-day found between the floors a complete outfit for making silver half dollars. The dies were to make half dollars of 1854. There was proof at hand that it had been used recently. Some papers found with the implements were turned over with them to United States Deputy Marshal H. M. Mason.

A Message From the Dead.

Baltfield, Ont., Nov. 19. On the beach near here to-day was found a glass bottle containing a paper on which was written: "The Heavens bless you, my dear wife. We are on a rock at Cheboygan reef and sinking with all hands. Water five feet in the hold. God take care of you and daughters. Yours, A. A. Cartiere."

The vessel's name is given as the Charles A. Eddy.

INSURANCE FRAUD.

A Band of Villianous Swindlers Unmasked.

A $10,000 CONSPIRACY.

A Part of the Gang Under Arrest—A Philadelphia Company Victimized —The Fate of the Insured Man Is a Mystery.

Boston, Nov. 19—Mrs. Carrie Pitzel, wife of the man whose life was insured for $10,000 was found in Burlington, Vt., and came to this city to-day with a Pinkerton detective and Inspector Whitman, where she is held on the charge of conspiracy after the fact. When she arrived at Police headquarters she realized for the first time that she was under suspicion, her trip to Boston having ostensibly been made for the purpose of meeting Holmes. She fainted dead away, but later recovered her composure and told the officers what she knew of the case.

To the best of her knowledge she believes that her husband is alive, but of this she is not certain. Neither does she know the whereabouts of three children other than the two who are with her. All she knows is that Holmes has repeatedly told her that she would meet Mr. Pitzel and the children in different places, only to be disappointed when she went there.

In her story she claims not to have seen her husband since he left her in July last. They were then in St. Louis. Her husband informed her that he was going to Chicago on business, and later on she claims to have received word from him in Philadelphia stating that he had assumed the name of Perry as a result of some difficulties he had gotten into in the South. She claims that about a week after the death of a man in Philadelphia who was supposed to be Pitzell, she read in a St. Louis paper of the death of a man named Perry. She believed that the man might be her husband and consulted a friend in regard to the matter. It was deemed best to let the matter drop for two or three days and during that period she alleges she received a call from Holmes at her home in St. Louis. She called his attention to the death of B. F. Perry in Philadelphia. She had known Holmes, alias Howard, several years, as her husband had been in business with him. She claims that Holmes told her not to worry as her husband was not dead, and everything would turn out all right. She saw him after that more frequently and he then told her how matters stood. He told her what had been done in regard to the body and told her that a bogus one had been substituted for one believed to be that of her husband. She was told that the purpose was that of getting the insurance money. She was asked to assist Holmes in the deception but she alleges that she strenuously refused to have anything to do with it until Holmes finally overcame her and she consented to allow the swindle to be consummated.

WANTED IN CHICAGO.

The Police There Would Like to See Holmes and His Friends.

Chicago, Nov. 19—The police and other persons of this city, especially fire insurance men, and those who deal in material for the construction of houses, would like to see again in this city H. H. Holmes, who is a prisoner in Boston on the charge of conspiring to defraud the Fidelity Mutual Life Association out of $10,000, for which amount he had insured the life of B. F. Pitzel. Holmes and a woman named Lucy Belknap, who lived at his house as his mother-in-law, another woman who went by the name of Williams and Pitzel, swindled numerous supply firms and furniture houses out of several thousand dollars by means of getting houses built in the name of Mrs. Belknap, who was represented as being a rich widow. When the house was finished and furnished on credit it would burn and the victims would have nothing to show for their confidence. Of course the house would be well insured, and the policies were paid. Before the fair opened Holmes and his confederates swindled numerous merchants and hotel furnishers out of several thousand dollars' worth of goods by a hotel scheme. One of the larger victims, the Tobey Furniture Company, discovered a portion of their property in a bricked-up room of the hotel after Holmes had disappeared from the place. Holmes also had a drug store in Englewood for a time, and defrauded all who were deceived by his smooth ways. He and his associates have been working their swindling game in this city since 1886 and left Chicago only a few months ago.

THE PHILADELPHIA STORY.

Indictments Found Against Four of the Swindlers.

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—The grand jury this afternoon returned true bills of indictment against Herman Mudgett, Alixis H. Holmes, who is under arrest at Boston; Jeptha D. Howe, the St. Louis lawyer, and Mrs. Carrie A. Pitzel, alias Cook, for fraudulently obtaining $10,000 insurance from the Fidelity Mutual Life Association of this city, upon the death of B. F. Pitzel. Immediately following the finding of the indictments, which charge "conspiracy to cheat and defraud" the life insurance association received word of the arrest in St. Louis of Howe, and of the capture in Burlington, Vt., of the woman who is the widow of the victim, and who to-day confessed to the conspiracy. Steps have already been taken to extradite the accused. While the indictments do not charge murder, the authorities believe it will be shown at the trial that Pitzel was done away with by the accused, either intentionally or otherwise.

The grand jury found the indictments upon the strength of evidence presented by President Fouse of the insurance association, and Coroner Ashbridge. Prior to the finding of the indictments, Coroner Ashbridge stated to a reporter that he was positive the body discovered on September 4 at 1316 Callowhill street in this city and upon which an inquest was held on the following day, as that of B. F. Perry, was none other than that of Pitzel.

"The remains were in such an advanced stage of decomposition," the coroner continued, "that Dr. Mattern, who made the post mortem examination was unable to establish any fact further than that the lungs were terribly congested. Consequently the coroner's jury had no other recourse than to find that Benjamin F. Perry, aged 40 years, came to his death from congestion of the lungs, caused by inhaling flames or a poisonous drug and the body was interred in the potter's field."

The coroner then told of Mrs. Pitzel of No. 6343 Michigan avenue, St. Louis, stating in a letter to him that the body was that of her husband, Benjamin Pitzel, and not Perry, and of a request that it be shipped to St. Louis. This Coroner Ashbridge refused to do without formal identification being made. "After some correspondence," the coroner went on to say, "Lawyer Howe and E. Allee Pitzel, a sister of the dead man, arrived from St. Louis, and had the remains exhumed. The body was identified by them as that of Pitzel, and on September 21 the inquest was reopened, the verdict being the same as the previous one, with the exception that the record was made to read, 'Benjamin F. Pitzel, 37 years old, No 6343 Michigan avenue, St. Louis.'"

After the identification the man and woman left the city without taking the body, the insurance being paid to the widow.

The Fidelity Association becoming suspicious of the affair, the investigation, arrests and indictments were the outcome. Coroner Ashbridge thinks that Holmes confessed to the conspiracy in Boston for the purpose of warding off the greater crime of murder.

LOCOMOTIVE FIREMEN.

Meeting of the Executive Board in Terre Haute.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 19—The executive board of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen met here to-day to act Harrisburg convention ordering the removal of the headquarters offices from this city and to arrange for carrying into effect the change in the law of the organization in regard to the insurance of members. The removal question did not come up as several delegations from cities asking for the location of the headquarters are to be heard later in the week. The change in the insurance law is to permit members to carry either $500, $1,000 or $1,500 insurance instead of the compulsory $1,500 as in the present law. The duty of the board is to fix the rates of assessments and arrange the details for the new plan.

Wanted for Diamond Robbery.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 19.—At noon tomorrow Pat Crowe will be released from the Milwaukee House of Correction but an officer will be on hand to place him in custody again and take him to Colorado to answer to the charge of diamond robbery. The requisition papers for Crowe were issued by Governor Peck to Governor Waite's agent to-day. Crowe was sent to the House of Correction 60 days ago for vagrancy. The Governor of Missouri also wants Crowe for train robbery, but his request reached Governor Peck too late.

The Treasury Balance.

Washington, Nov. 19—The treasury stated balance to-day is $101,162,000 of which $61,832,000 is in gold. This statement of the gold does not take in $2,075,000 of gold withdrawn at New York today and Saturday last, which will not begin to show in the treasury books until to-morrow. So far slightly over $3,000,000 in gold have been withdrawn at New York since Nov. 13, and $100,000 at other points. Otherwise, except for the gold withdrawn to bid for bonds, the treasury has been gaining gold since Nov. 13 as it did before, from mintage and in the western sub-treasuries.

Kate Field Decorated.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Miss Kate Field has been decorated by the French government for her literary services. She has received an official communication from the French ambassador, M. Patenotre, informing her that his government has conferred upon her the "Academic Palm" instituted to recompense artists and authors. The official certificate issued by the Minister of Public Instruction and Fine Arts describes the lady as "Miss Kate Field, Conferenciere a Washington," and states that she has been named "Officier de L'Instruction Publique."

Watching for Robbers.

Visalia, Cal., Nov. 19.—The sheriff of Tulare county accompanied by a posse all armed to the teeth, are now on all Southern Pacific through trains on account of a warning received by the company that robbers would make an attempt to hold up a train at the deserted village of Alilia. This was the scene of a train robbery by the Dalton gang several years ago, and since the station was abandoned by the company the inhabitants left. There is no telegraphic communication for several miles on each side of the place.

Two Bodies Found.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 19. Seventy-five miles south of Duluth two more bodies, victims of the Hinckley fire, were found. One was identified as that of Captain L. E. Broone, an old man, who was master of the steamboat Cumberland in Grass lake, and the other body could not be identified. The bodies were found on the Upper Kettle river, west of St. Paul and Duluth railway, near the northern limit of the burned district.

Townsend, general passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain railroads, has notified Chairman Caldwell of the Western Passenger association of the withdrawal of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain lines from the association to take effect Nov. 29 because of lines in the association are not living up to the agreement.

A Suspect Released.

Denver, Nov. 19.—Frank Roch, the suspected strangler, was discharged to-night, several days in the "sweat box" having failed to obtain anything from him in the way of a confession. This leaves the field clear to Demandy, who is the only one likely to have had a motive for the crimes.

Henry Wilson's Brother.

Natick, Mass., Nov. 19. Geo. A. Colbath, one of the two living brothers of the late ex-Vice-President Henry Wilson, whose original name was Jeremiah Colbath, died last night. VERY RICH INDEED.

A Good Strike Made on the Abe Lincoln.

THE LEASE ON THE ZENOBIA.

An Adverse Suit Compromised — The Dolly Varden Keeps Up Its Record — The Midland Grade Has Reached Victor.

Special to The Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Nov. 19.—A good strike was made to-day in the Abe Lincoln, located just above the Anaconda on Gold hill. The mine is being worked under lease by Messrs. Narville & Co., and they have about two and one-half feet of ore. The strike was made in the shaft at the depth of 33 feet, and is of the same character as the Anaconda, and is said to be very rich indeed, though no figures will be given out for publication.

In the new shaft which has recently been sunk on the Jack G., there is now eight inches of sylvanite ore that runs over 20 ounces in gold to the ton. The manager says that the property is looking better than ever and soon hopes to make a shipment.

The lease given on the Zenobia, mention of which was made in The Gazette on Sunday, is to William Chatterton, George Hund and J. B. Maloy. Their lease covers all the south end from the 100 foot level up south of the shaft. It runs for one year, the company furnishing all tools, ammunition and hoisting all ore from the old shaft with their steam hoist. On the north end of the claim Sands brothers have a similar lease. The ore at both points is looking very well, and the lessees have in both instances plenty in sight to start work upon.

Moore & Morrell, lessees on the Bonanza Chief, on Beacon hill, are getting gray quartz ore from the drift of the 45-foot level. It is said to run away up in the hundreds, but the exact figures will not be given. Alongside of the quartz is a streak of "sugar quartz" which will run over $1,000 to the ton, but it is a very small streak.

The adverse suit on the Rotten Hole lode versus the Gertrude H., both on Mineral hill, has been compromised, each party taking an equal part of the disputed ground. The Gertrude H. is one of the Gold Deposit Company's properties, and is a fine prospect.

The Dolly Varden is keeping up its old time record and now shows up a seven-foot vein of first-class ore. There is a movement on foot to incorporate the company of lessees, and it is understood that the affair will be consummated in a few days.

The Wilson lease on the Free Coinage has opened up a new streak of ore in their new 15-foot shaft, which consists of 10 inches of very fine sylvanite. At the bottom of the old 50-foot shaft they are cross-cutting for this new lead, as it now seems that the shaft has been sunk a little off the vein.

The Lucky Corner people have opened up a new streak of ore which is the best so far that that property has ever seen. The ore runs over $100 to the ton. The lessees are working two shifts.

The Midland Grade reached Victor today. The road goes round Bull mountain just below the Victor mine and crosses over to Battle mountain near Hull's camp, where it passes near the Independence. The grade brings the road in convenient vicinity to the chief mines of the camp.

The New Discovery on Mineral hill continues to hold out. There is now no question that the lessees have a big thing. They have had the lease extended for one year.

The Lone Star No. 1 continues to show up well and mining (?) with potato forks on the surface is still carried on there. Shipments are made every day to the Spinney mill.

Dr. A. J. Lanterman has just arrived in camp and at once put a force of men to work on the Napoleon shaft of the Grace Greenwood. The shaft is about 60 feet deep, and before the starting of litigation several car loads of ore were sent out that returned $40 to the ton. They will work right along now that the litigation is settled.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

Mrs. John Malcomb, wife of the proprietor; Hal Morris of Kansas City; George Townsend and Alexander Jenkins of Cake, were probably fatally scalded. William Creel, colored, had his face scalded, and Head Miller, colored, was badly bruised. M. S. Brown, pressman, was the only one uninjured.

The New Bond Issue.

New York, Nov. 19.—It is said that $1,500,000 gold was withdrawn from the local sub-treasury here to-day in connection with the new bond loan. Of this amount $1,000,000 was taken, it is understood, by the Third National bank. Local banks are reporting an increased inquiry from out-of-town correspondents for gold to be used, it is thought, in payment for the new bonds. A conference of the local bankers interested in the new bond issue is slated for to-morrow.

Stockholders Disagree.

Elwood, Ind., Nov. 19.—The Elwood Iron Works and Radiator Companies, which were organized three years ago with a capital stock of $200,000, assigned to-day. They were doing a profitable business, but disagreements among the stockholders caused the assignment. The Radiator factory was sold to Chicago and Indianapolis parties.

WANT FREE SILVER.

A Demand to be Made Upon the Republican Party.

Minneapolis, Nov. 19—A special from Gary, S. D., to an afternoon paper says: "For several months an understanding has existed among the leading silver men of the United States that an emphatic demand shall be made that the Republican platform of 1896 shall contain an unequivocal declaration in favor of unqualified free coinage of silver, and in the event of the failure of the Republicans to so declare a new party movement shall forthwith be sprung with a two-plank platform declaring simply for protection and free coinage. This information is authentic, coming from a gentleman of veracity who is acting as amanuensis to one of the backers of the movement.

The management of the movement is largely in the hands of Senators Jones, Stewart and Pettigrew, and that they are looking to Senator Cameron of Pennsylvania as their presidential candidate in the event of the birth of the new party. The correspondent is positive in the declaration that the Republican party will be forced either to adopt the silver plank or be destroyed, and that this intention to rule or ruin is a fundamental tenet of the movement, and it is even said that Senator Cameron has already consented to head the ticket."

Pettigrew Denies.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 19.—Senator Pettigrew was seen to-night by a United Press reporter regarding the dispatch from Gary, S. D., touching his connection with the new silver party. He denies the truth of the story, and branded it as "an unmitigated falsehood."

A Bank Assigns.

Richmond, Ky., Nov. 19.—An assignment to Henry B. Wiseman was made by the Estill County Deposit bank of Irvine to-day. The absconding ex-Cashier, Joseph McDowell, has not yet been heard from.

A Change for the Better.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The Akron Beacon and Republican, one of the leading Republican papers of Ohio, has abandoned the Associated Press and to-day began taking the full leased wire service of the United Press.

Civil Service Extended.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The President has extended the benefits of the civil service to the employees of postal transfer or sub stations. About 300 people are affected. They were inadvertently left out in a former classification.

THOMAS KEENE.

Richelieu Presented by the Tragedian Last Evening.

Thomas Keene, undoubtedly the leading actor in America of tragic roles since the death of Booth, appeared at the Opera House last evening in Lord Lytton's great play of "Richlieu." A magnificent audience greeted the tragedian and his company of players, the house being packed from pit to dome. The play is familiar to all theater-goers, and almost every school boy can speak the lines of the curse scene. Mr. Keene's interpretation of the wily old churchman is materially that of the great actors of the past. He makes him perhaps more feeble than have most actors, and his sudden recovery at the end of the last act, which most actors use to accentuate the craft of the statesman, is less marked. However, it is a very effective picture that Mr. Keene draws of the aged statesman, tenacious of power, battling with his enemies and triumphing at last.

The supporting company is excellent, and the play was handsomely mounted and costumed. Mr. Arden as de Mauprey was forceful and his declamation fine. The Baradas of Mr. Hennig was very good, and Mr. Buckler as the king brought out the weak character of the monarch admirably. Miss Lawrence as Julie was quite charming, although at times she seemed rather amateurish.

The splendid audience showed that Colorado Springs at least is ready to patronize the legitimate still.

A rumor went about the streets last evening concerning another important real estate deal. It was to the effect that Mr. F. I. Marston has sold the property on Pike's Peak avenue now occupied by Munson and the Union Pacific offices, to Mrs. T. G. Waterman. The land is 25 feet wide and has a depth of 75 feet, and improved by a small building. The reported price is $13,000. The sale was said to have been negotiated by Bennett & Evans, but last evening a member of the firm said that the deal had not been closed up.

Hon. Irving Howbert, chairman of the Republican State Central committee, is receiving a perfect flood of letters every day from candidates for appointment by the new State officials. He will have to employ a clerk if he answers them all and would have to be a mighty man indeed if he got them all appointments. Mr. Howbert says that there are so many men who are applicants for the same office all of whom he knows did good service in the campaign that he is not free to chose among them. For that reason he will refuse to encourage the candidacy of any one.

Mr. F. L. Savage, an architect of Bar Harbor, who has been in the city for some weeks, left last evening for Ann Arbor, Mich., where he has a house under construction which he will superintend. Mr. Savage is the architect of a handsome house which Mr. John C. Manchester is shortly to build on Nevada avenue. Mr. Savage seriously contemplates returning to this city for residence and to open an office.

WALKER SET ASIDE.

CLEVELAND DISPLEASED WITH HIS REPORT ON HAWAII.

The Admiral Was Instructed to Sound the People on the Question of Annexation and He Reported that He Found Them Almost Unanimously in Favor of It.

Washington, Nov. 19.—When Admiral John G. Walker was sent to Hawaii last spring in command of the Pacific station, it was the intention that, on his return, he should be made superintendent of the Naval Academy, and orders detaching him from the station directed him to report at Annapolis on Sept. 15.

A few days before they were to go into effect; however, it was announced at the Navy Department that the time for Admiral Walker to report had been extended, but no explanation was offered for this unusual procedure. Admiral Walker is regarded as the ablest officer in the navy, and is said never to have failed in securing any billet he wished. When it became known, therefore, that he was not to be superintendent, the entire navy was curious to know the reason for the sudden change of programme. It was said that Mr. E. C. Benedict, the President's close friend, had a candidate in Captain Philip, late of the cruiser New York, and that he would probably be selected, but when Captain Cooper, whose name had not been considered in connection with the detail, was selected, there was all the more curiosity to discover why the man with the great pull had been turned down.

It turns out now that the President was displeased with the report Admiral Walker made on Hawaii, and that this led to his countermanding the orders. Walker, it was said, was expected to make a survey of the new proposed naval station at Pearl harbor, and on his return the Navy Department promptly gave out a report setting forth what had been accomplished.

While this survey was incidental, the real cause of Walker's assignment was to feel the pulse of the people regarding annexation, and to report thereon to the President direct. This report showed that the feeling among the better class of the islanders was unanimously in favor of annexation, and it is asserted that Walker went out of his way and encouraged those influential in the provisional government to keep up their fight for closer relations with the United States. Like every naval officer, Admiral Walker firmly believes that the welfare of the islands lies in annexation to the United States. His report is now in the President's hands, and will not be made public unless called for by special resolution of Congress.

Admiral Walker will not discuss the reason of his failure to secure the Naval Academy detail, but his friends say that he can still have any duty he wants, and they point to his recent detail as a member of the examining board as evidence that he still exercises the pull that he has had for years. This duty, however, is not the most desirable which falls within the province of officers of his rank, and it was only taken by Admiral Walker because no other was available.

BERLIN CABLE LETTER.

The Emperor, His New Cabinet and the German Socialists.

Berlin, Nov. 17.—The programme of the opening of the Reichstag on Dec. 5 has been completed. After divine service the Imperial Deputies will assemble in the Rittersaal of the old castle to hear the Emperor read the speech from the throne. From the castle the Deputies will go with the procession to the new Reichstag building. The Emperor, members of the Federal Council, Reichstag officials and provincial grandees will swell the numbers of the parade. After the solemn inauguration ceremony, the Deputies will go to the old house and in the afternoon will hold their farewell sitting there. The address will be given by Herr Von Levetzow, president of the Reichstag.

The measure to check the socialist and anarchist agitation will be the first and only one of importance to be submitted to the Reichstag before the Christmas recess. The Frankfurter Zeitung says that the draft as prepared by Count Von Caprivi, has been altered with such a reactionary tendency by Baron Koeller, Prussian Minister of the Interior, that Bavaria declines to assent to it. The Augsburger Post Zeitung says to-day, however, that if the measure be kept within the scope of the common law, Bavaria will not object to it. This statement, it says, is made with authority. Without doubt there is a divergence of views in the federal States as to the degree of severity expedient, but nothing so serious as to prevent an ultimate agreement.

Since Dr. Schoenstedt's appointment to the Ministry of Justice completed the Cabinet, public uneasiness has decreased noticeably. The Clericals and Agrarians have good reason to be satisfied with the new Minister of Justice as, like Prince Hohenlohe and Baron Koeller, he is a Catholic and protectionist. Although never active in politics, he is known as a fairly moderate, conservative man. He certainly is not a feudal reactionist. He enjoys a good reputation among jurists.

Out of 11 Ministers, seven belong to the nobility. Although composed of men not in sympathy with Liberal ideas, the Cabinet draws an increasing amount of public confidence. No pronounced reactionist policy is to be adopted by the Ministers and none is inteded by the Emperor.

Unless the severity of the government measures forces the Social Democrats to reunite against a common foe, a permanent rupture between the Berlin central committee and the South Germans will be inevitable. Vollmar and Grillenberger, South German leaders, and Singer and Auer, North German members of the central committee, are working to effect a compromise, but August Bebel and Willial Liebknecht, the time-honored despots of the party, are calling for the expulsion of Vollmar and his South German following at any cost.

The majority of Berlin Social Democrats are with the old leaders. Speaking in Nuremberg this week, Grillenberger declared that the North German leaders were influenced in their course by personal ambition and that they resented all advice, wishing to continue to act as dictators, owing responsibility to nobody. Such an assumption of power, he was convinced, endangered the unity of the party. He charged the Vowartz with falsifying reports of the Frankfort Congress for the purpose of the Berlin clique.

Bebel has already threatened to withdraw from the party's central committee, and unless he gets the full support of his North German colleagues in fighting Vollmar, he is likely to get out. It is reported that Count Schouvaloff, Russian Ambassador in Berlin, will succeed General Gourko in Warsaw as Governor of Russian Poland.

The Nordeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung is authorized to deny that Emperor William is composing an opera.

Prince Regent Luitpold of Vavaria laid to-day the cornerstone of the new national museum in Munich. He made a short speech which was received enthusiastically. His only noteworthy words, however, were that Bavaria led Central Europe in art and music.

The girls and women of Breslau decided at a meeting on Thursday to give Prince Bismarck an illuminated address and a specimen of Silesian art as well as also a fund whose use shall be determined by him. In several East Prussian districts arrangements are making to collect similar funds and to send deputations to Friedrischruhe on the Prince's next birthday.

Edith Walker made her debut on the operatic stage at the Grand opera house this week in "The Prophet." She was remarkably successful.

The American residents met at the embassy on Wednesday and resolved to celebrate Thanksgiving Day with a dinner at the Hotel Central. All the United States Consuls in Germany will be invited.

The Rev. Dr. Dickie, the new paster of the American colony, drew a large audience to the American chapel last Sunday to hear his first sermon in Berlin.

Ambassador Runyon gave a dinner last evening in honor of T. B. Ferguson, United States Minister to Sweden and Norway. The whole staff of the embassy and Consul General De Kaye were present.

A. A. Boggs, secretary to Clifton P. Brecklnridge of the American embassy in St. Petersburg, passed through Berlin today on his way to his post.

John B. Jackson, secretary of the embassy, has gone to Oblenburg under orders from Washington to collect 6000 marks due from the authorities to a child named Fuhrken now under the care of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. An elder child of the same family received 6000 marks some time ago under similar circumstances and a third now under the solicitor's care will get the same amount upon coming of age.

MILLIONAIRES UNAWARES.

They Owned the Site of Cripple Creek and Sold It For a Song.

The site of Cripple Creek was for ten years a cow pasture of two long limbed old Kentucklans of the names of Bob and Bill Womax, who took up a section of land under the desert land act here about 1876. In the early days of gold excitement in Colorado, when people crossed the plains with "Pike's Peak or Bust" painted on their wagons, some little gold was washed out here, but not enough to encourage any one to stay. So the prospectors passed on into the mountains and left the land for the Womax brothers to feed their cattle on.

They didn't dream that gold was there, and becoming tired of the place about seven years ago sold it to Bennett & Myers, a firm of real estate agents in Denver who had loaned them money. There were 400 or 500 cattle on the place and several hundred miles of fencing, which inclosed about 50,000 acres of government land. For all this Bennett & Myers paid $20,000, and when they got the title they organized the Pike's Peak Cattle company, with a capital of $1,000,000, but before they got things ready to put the stock on the market President Cleveland issued his proclamation ordering the cattlemen to tear down all the fences they had erected upon public land. That practically deprived the new company of 50,000 acres of pasturage and knocked the profits out of ranching in Colorado. With the depression in cattle and land coming on about the same time, the company was abandoned, and the owners left the herd they purchased to graze there under the care of a few men.

In February, 1891, Bennett & Myers got a letter from their foreman at the ranch saying that gold had been discovered there, and the prospectors were digging holes all over the place, which made it dangerous for the cattle. Several cows had already fallen into these excavations and broken their legs, and he asked for instructions. They wrote back to him to run the miners off the place, but he replied that they were already several hundred in number, and it was folly to think of disturbing them. He followed his letter to Denver a few days after and gave his employers a description of affairs. So they went up to make an inspection, which resulted in the transfer of the cattle to a less valuable pasture and the platting of a town site on 80 acres of the pasture. That sold off like hot cakes, and the town of Cripple Creek was born.

The man who discovered gold was a drunken blacksmith of Colorado Springs of the name of Dick Wooten, who had been hanging around the ranch for months at a time, and of course found it by accident. He at once advertised the fact among all the prospectors and mining men in that part of the country, and they came up in swarms to scrape over the beds of the streams and rake out the grass roots. A man of the name of Frisbee was the first to discover gold quartz a few weeks after Wooten's find. In less than six months there were a thousand prospectors at work in the valley, and now more than 4,000 miners are employed in the hundreds of mines that lie on that ranch alone. They have taken out more than $7,000,000 or $8,000,000 in gold. The yield for the first year was about $600,000. In 1892 it reached $1,500,000, and in 1893 $2,400,000. The miners' strike last spring put things back enormously, but notwithstanding between four and five months that were actually wasted the yield this year will average $700,000 a month, or a total of $3,500,000. During this month they expect to reach the $1,000,000 mark, and next year the output will be doubled.

Until recently very few of the miners had been working with improved machinery. Cripple Creek has been emphatically a poor man's camp—that is, the owners of most of the mines were men without capital to develop them, and they were compelled to putter along with the most primitive apparatus until they had made enough to buy modern machinery.

The Independence mine, which is regarded as the most valuable in the Cripple Creek district, is a good illustration. It was discovered and is owned by a man named W. S., or Bill, Stratton, a carpenter at Colorado Springs, who came up to the camp to spend the Fourth of July in 1892. Wandering over what is known as Battle mountain, near the site of the present town of Victor, he said in a jocular way to his companion that he was going to throw his hat down the hill and locate a claim where it fell. He drove his stake, filed his papers and "worked his assessment," according to law, and after awhile he struck a vein of gold that is said to be richer than any other that has been discovered here. He had no money and was very shy of partners. A Denver syndicate offered him $1,000,000 for the property, and at first he thought they were joking. Little by little, as he got out the ore, he was able to make improvements, and upon the reputation of his mine he succeeded in persuading a Chicago firm to furnish him a $50,000 plant that runs by electricity and is said to be the best in the Cripple Creek camps. He gave notes in payment, and within 20 days after his machinery started was able to take them up with his profits. The mine is now paying $90,000 a month net, the bankers here say, and there are millions of dollars in the ore in sight.

They call Bill Stratton "the king of Battle mountain."—Chicago Record.

THE TWO VERDICTS.

Mr. W—L—Wilson, speaking of the late elections, has voiced a very common feeling among both Democrats and Republicans in saying that in hard times the people naturally blame the party in power. Mr. Wilson, of course, does not believe that the party in power caused the hard times, to any degree whatever, and that is where Republicans differ with him.

There is another remark of Mr. Wilson's which is more important, and which if true would be rather discouraging to Republicans; and that is that the late elections were not at all in the nature of a verdict on the tariff. For six years, he says, from 1886 to 1892 the tariff question was discussed by the Democracy, and fairly argued out before the American people, and in 1890, and again in 1892, they rendered their verdict unmistakably in favor of a radical and thorough tariff reform. It is inconceivable, he thinks, that they should be so fickle as a reversal of that verdict now would imply. He inclines to think that the late elections had nothing to do with the tariff, or at most, if the tariff was a factor in them at all, it was only so in so far as the people intended to rebuke the unfaithful Democrats who had compromised with iniquity by assenting to the changes which the Senate made in his bill.

This last proposition of Mr. Wilson's which is also unquestionably the view held by Mr. Cleveland—seems to us so fanciful as to be ridiculous. If Mr. Wilson is right, why was he himself beaten? And why should the people in every district of his own State repudiate the Democratic policy? The Republicans made their campaign in West Virginia entirely on the tariff issue. The same is true in Pennsylvania and Maryland. McKinley made more speeches in more States than any other campaigner this year; he talked protection pure and adulterated, and in every State he visited, the Republican gain was enormous. No, Mr. Wilson's idea that the people repudiated the Democratic party in order to show their devotion to the cause of pure tariff reform is utterly untenable, and would not be worthy of a moment's serious consideration were it not for the eminence of the two men who have elaborated that idea, and cling to it like a drowning man to a straw.

As to the other point—that the tariff question was argued out and definately settled in the direction of freer trade and lower prices by the campaigns and elections from 1886 to 1892—there is a fact which seems to have escaped the attention of the eminent professor but which seems to us to be the most important fact in the whole case.

It is true, as Mr Wilson says, that the question was argued out in the six years ending with 1892 and that as the result of that argument the people gave to the Democratic party a commission to go ahead and revise the tariff on free trade lines The party had plead for a practical trial of its policy, and had obtained it. Now the trial has been made, and by the confession of Mr. Wilson himself, and of every other Democratic leader in the country, it is a failure Some of them call it a total failure, some only partial, but that it is a failure they are all agreed

Now the trouble with Mr. Wilson and the President in this matter is that they do not see the difference between a theory and a condition It was the theory that was presented to the people of the United States from 1886 to 1892, in 1894 it was a condition. The theory looked well, sounded well, and the people said, "Let us try it" But it did not work well, and now the people have said, "It is tried, and found wanting, let us have no more of it." The condition has been too much for the theory.

Mr Wilson as it seems to us, has misinterpreted what is called "the verdict of 1892" For thirty years the Republicans had been in power, and although the tariff had been raised by them several times, the war taxes taken off, coffee, tea and sugar made free, the free list extended to such a degree that in 1892 fifty-five per cent. of all the imports were free, and manufacturers who chose to make goods for foreign markets got their "raw materials" absolutely free of duty, still the tariff was protective In the long joint debate referred to the Republicans said, "Here are the fruits of our policy; we are prosperous as never before, we have grown in wealth as no country ever did; is this not therefore a good policy?" The Democrats said, "Even grant that we are prosperous, that is in spite of the protective tariff, not because of it. Give us a chance and we will increase your prosperity."

The verdict was that the chance should be given to them They got the academic decision, and the people waited to pass judgment on the practical result—for in the long run, it is by their practical results that things of this sort must be judged The result became apparent with wonderful suddenness, and now the verdict has been rendered on that

In other words, the verdict of '92 was a verdict on promise the verdict of '94 is a verdict on performance the former was a permission to go ahead and try a theory which looked well; the latter is a condemnation of a theory which has worked badly.

We do not overlook the fact that other considerations helped to the overthrow of the Democracy this year, foremost among which was the complete demonstration of the utter incapacity of the party to carry out its own promises or to agree on any definite policy whatever But so far as protection and a revenue tariff are concerned the verdict was against the latter, and no amount of explanation or of argument can make it mean anything else And if this is true, the verdict of 94 is more likely to stand than the verdict of 92; for practice is more convincing than theory. And these considerations acquit the American people of the charge of fickleness, because, if the judgment passed in 1892 was avowedly tentative and conditional, as we believe it was, there can be no reproach in a reversal of it in two years, if in the meantime facts have showed that the theory, permission to try which in practice was granted in 1892, has worked so badly as to demonstrate its inability to meet existing conditions

The South Dakota story of a demand for a free silver plank to be made on the Republican party bears the earmarks of a "fake" What right have Senators Stewart and Jones, who have declared themselves out of the party, to make demands upon it?

According to the latest figures the political complexion of the next house will be 245 Republicans, 135 Democrats and 6 Populists This does not take any account of the contests, which are likely to be as numerous as usual or more so.

The effects of McIntire's election on the mining stock market in this city have been all that was claimed Both the volumes of trading and the prices of the stocks have shown a gratifying increase

Even the Japanese have learned to distinguish between President Cleveland and the American people, and will refuse his proffer of arbitration, while expressing the highest consideration for them.

It appears that Colorado has not yet paid the full penalty of electing Governor Waite. Now he proposes to go on a lecturing tour in the East.

The Late Election and Continental Union.

Among the many causes that contributed on Nov. 6 to the extirpation of the pro-English and Populistic taint injected by Cleveland into the Democratic party, one of the most important has hitherto escaped attention We refer to the great determination shown by the friends of the executive in the present Congress, to discriminate by divers provisions of the new tariff against Northern farmers and in favor of their Canadian competitors. More than one Senator and Representative predicted the political effect of thus sacrificing the Northern agriculturist, while, except in the case of the sugar bounty, the utmost pains was taken to meet the wishes of the Southern planters The event has justified the forecast An analysis of the election figures proves that the defeat of the Democratic party as misled by Cleveland, was disastrous not only throughout the Northern belt of States, but conspicuously in those counties which adjoin the Canadian frontier Deep is the love of country among our border population, and keen is their desire to see it expand to continental limits; and to that end they would welcome the Canadian provinces to the American market, if they consented to come thither as members of the American Union But, otherwise, they have for them no welcome and no toleration. One flag, one market, is the motto of our Northern agriculturists, and to give the one without requiring the acceptance of the other, they regard not unreasonably as a betrayal of their local interests, and as an act of purblind or disloyal opposition to the national aggrandizement

It is amusing to reflect on the consternation with which the verdict registered on Nov 6 by the American people must have been received at Ottawa The Dominion Tories flattered themselves that, by our gratuitous abolition or reduction of duties on Canadian commodities, we had robbed our friends in Canada of their prime argument and had paralyzed the movement for continental union But scarcely had the tariff act, which thus filled them with elation, been placed upon the statute book, when the popular rebuke of it came thunderous and crushing On the jubilant Dominion government, and on its chief backer and banker, the president of the Canadian Pacific, the triumph of the Republicans must have fallen like a bolt out of the blue We can hear them bewailing the shocking mutability of American sentiment' "It was a mistake, then, to suppose that intelligent Americans wanted four more years of Grover; on the contrary, they would eject him with a kick to-morrow if they could It was an error to assume that Hawaii's prayer for annexation would long remain unanswered, or that the project of continental union was defunct"

The outcome of the late election has made it as clear at Ottawa as it is in New York, that in 1897 the Stars and Stripes will be run up again at Honolulu, and stay there; while Canadian producers will be notified by suitable changes in the tariff that, if they want admittance to the American market, they must get it by becoming American citizens Those events are certain to take place, because the American people will demand them. They will take place, whether the next President is a Democrat or a Republican Whatever he may call himself, he will not be an Anglophile and Populist of the Cleveland stripe

No sooner was the result of the election for President in 1892 made known, than we warned the Canadian friends of continental union that they must expect for a brief space to encounter disappointments and reverses We explained to them that the Saxon race upon this continent was one that only American patriots could appreciate, and therefore it need look for nothing but indifference from Grover Cleveland. We pointed out that the only national ensign which had been known to elicit a dull thrill from his cold nature, was the union jack, and that the mere doubling of the area of his country was to his mind a small matter compared with the approval of the British Ambassador and the laudation of the London press We foretold later that the man who began his second administration by hauling down the American flag at Honolulu, would, through his tools in Congress, extinguish or cut down the duties on Canadian products for the express purpose of killing the continental union project But we also predicted that these exhibitions of contempt for patriotic aspirations would bring upon him swift and bitter retribution, and that during his last two years of office he would be a found-out, broken and derided man lonesome and impotent, his trim plucked, his fangs drawn

We bid good cheer to the friends of continental union, alike in Canada and in the United States The reign of their arch-enemy is already practically over The light is breaking the dawn of triumph is at hand The time will soon come to re organize on both sides of the border; and this time the Ottawa Tories will try in vain to make Canadian farmers believe that they can obtain for nothing the privileges and prosperity which the makers and upholders of the American Republic bought for a great price—(New York Sun.

Fashions, Facts and an Idea About the Most Attractive Women For Wives.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, Nov 12 Cornflower blue, or "bluet," is the latest fad in colors. It is an indefinable shade, neither blue nor purple, but a mixture of the two. It makes every woman over 18 look sallow, but all those who aspire to be up to the times have a touch of it somewhere about them There are "donkey's ears" of bluette velvet for the neck, rosettes to brighten up a black hat and great bows to finish off the tip of a patent leather slipper. Veils of this new color are among the latest novelties, and several enterprising glovemakers have redyed old gloves and are advertising a Parisian novelty which Paris probably never saw. With all due regard to fashion, a woman should be confident of the peachy hue of her complexion before she adopts this latest whim

There is a modest fortune for the woman who invents some convenient and signtly arm covering to be worn with the tailor made suit The suit consists of skirt, sleeveless vest and coat, leaving the arms with one less covering than customary. Some ingenious women have converted woollen stocking legs into arm coverings

Mrs. John Jacob Aster is to have a tennis court worth $100,000 She is an enthusiastic player of tennis. Her husband recently purchased several lots in the rear of his new home on Fifth avenue. These are to be converted into a tennis court where Mrs. Aster can practice during the winter months

The uses of Japanese paper for interior decorations are many. One is to make it answer as a jardiniere by winding it around a common flowerpot and pulling it out full like a fan around the top. Around the center is tied a broad satin ribbon, with a huge bow in front. For lamp shades nothing can be prettier. It is tough and durable and keeps its freshness quite as long as light colored silks.

Palmer Cox is responsible for the present brownie style of decoration The handsomest new pocketbooks and cardcases have these unique little figures as ornamentation instead of the conventional scrolls of silver Some very elegant fans are entirely covered with hand embroidered brownies in the most amusing attitudes

In a car filled with women the other day ten were dressed in garments heavy enough for midwinter, four were seasonably clad, while the remaining six would have been comfortable on a warm day in August For some reason the average woman regards the fall coats as needless expense

One of the intellectual fads this winter will be "topics of the day classes." Miss Georgina Roberts, an English woman, will conduct them. Among the names already enrolled as members are Mrs F. W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Burke Roche, Mrs. H. McK Twombly and Mrs. William Post Some of the subjects discussed will be the English political situation, men and measures in Germany, hypnotism considered in the light of recent investigations, new books and the men and women who have written them, the woman question, a romance in economics or the Egypt of today, French politics and the London season

The Baltimore bakers do not propose to reduce the price of bread. If Baltimoreans desire to avail themselves of the benefits of cheap flour, they will have to bake bread themselves Baltimore Herald.

It is worthy of note that in nearly all if not quite all of the cities in which agitation for a reduction of 1 cent per pound is being urged the wholesale bakers have an organization of their own, a veritable bread trust. Washington Star

There is justice in the demand for a decrease in the price or an increase in the size of a loaf of bread. If the price of flour had materially advanced and continued high for a considerable period of time, the price of bread would undoubtedly have increased. A letter from the agent of the Santa Fe road regarding the payment for an electric light was referred to the Street committee

J M. Worley gave notice that unless the county hospital is made to remove a certain cesspool he will sue the city. Refered to the Sewer committee.

A report by Engineer Reid was read showing the most practicable way to run a water line from the Pike View reservoir across the Rock Island cut Upon motion the present line across the lots of the Boston Land company was declared the proper route The resolution accepting the right of way caused considerable discussion Alderman Hughes leading the opposition It was accepted by a vote of 6 to 3

The Water committee submitted a report in which it was stated that they had examined the law and facts and find that the various claims against the city for damages growing out of the floods last year, and water from the big ditch are unjust Mr G. W Musser addressed the Council in the interest of Mr Neiderhouser, one of the claimants The report of the committee was accepted and placed on file

The water committee presented the following resolution

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Council it is undesirable and unsatisfactory for the city to furnish water for running motors and without injustice other means of furnishing power can as conveniently and cheaply be provided; therefore,

Resolved, That no water be furnished to run motors after June 1, 1895, and that the City Treasurer send a copy of this resolution to each person paying for motors

The resolution was adopted

The bond of Thomas Ord for the reservoir and water pipe line work was accepted

The bid of the Denver Sewer Pipe and Clay company for furnishing sewer pipe made at the last meeting was accepted.

A bill of D H. Bennett for injury to his son on account of a bad street was ordered disallowed by the Street committee as the city is not liable

The rules were suspended and an ordinance adopted amending the water ordinance, by which it is required that every house where water is furnished must be properly numbered

Alderman Plumb then presented a resolution that the work on the new sewers be done under the direction of the City Engineer. The resolution was adopted

The City Attorney stated that he had notified the officers of the Rapid Transit company that it owes the city $10 000 for its portion of the cost of the Huerfano street viaduct. He has been unable to get a satisfactory answer and some of them have denied hat they owe the bill He stated that he would shortly begin a suit to establish the city's rights This caused considerable discussion and it seemed to be the general opinion that the matter should be pressed

A bill of $550 by D J Brown was presented for damages to his garden last June during the flood Referred to the Water committee.

The bid of Ord & Swope for driving the piles for the new pipe line was accepted They drive the piles at $2 per pile.

The County Fair.

After an extended engagement all over the country "The County Fair" will be brought to the opera house in this city next Monday evening Theater-goers are familiar with the success of this play at the Union Square theater, New York, and there are a number here who have no doubt seen the play during its long run there. In the presentation here all the original scenic and mechanical features will be reproduced. As suggested by its title, "The County Fair," is a drama dealing with country folk and life. It has a plot; not a strained and dramatic skeleton, but a plot made up of every day occurrences. There is the story of the erring lad, the waif of a girl the hearts fair hand, the crusty old granger and shy old maid The play contains many salient features that appeal alike to parquets as well as gallery In the first place there the running horse race, a most thrilling and novel bit of realism, and a husking bee, in which is presented a country dance and excellent singing by the choir of the organization. In fine it is described as an entertainment that will amuse all classes. The production will be most elaborate, with tons of machinery, a strong company of comedians headed by Marie Bates and other well-known people

Katie Emmet.

The attraction at the opera house next Saturday night will be Katie Emeett in "Killarney" According to the verdict of dramtaic critics throughout the country "Killarney" is vastly different from the average Irish play and that in a most pleasant degree There is no coarseness or vulgarity in it, there is a vim about every detail and the wit and humor is bright, clean and wholesome There is no wild sensational climax yet the curtain goes down at the end of each act disclosing a fitting picture for the finale The scenery throughout the play is a succession of pleasant surprises The lower lake of Killarney is the acme of the scenic artist's conception The Kenmare road the old Brickeen bridge—Ross castle, the Reeks and Colleen Bawn rock are very are very realistic and beautiful Miss Emmett has no peer in the delineation of Irish character parts and in "Killarney" she is at her best There is a strong company and the play is beautifully costumed

Rev Mr Northcutt, the evangelist who is meeting with such good success in conducting meetings at the Christian church spoke to a large audience of young men Sunday afternoon at the Y M C A. rooms on the subject "Setting Sail," in keeping with the subject a full rigged yacht and a pencil drawing of a full rigged ship drawn by Fred S Manning were on exhibition. Mr Northcutt gave many valuable suggestions to the young men Among other things that were worthy of note was the following in reference to the Y M C A He said "that if the business men and property owners of this city were alive to their best interests they would put up a splendid building for the Young Men's Christain association and make a home for hundreds of young men in this city where they would be under good wholesome influence"

Mrs Ames, wife of Sheriff Ames of Belvidere, Ills, is deputy sheriff of Boone county and fearlessly takes charge of insane persons and prisoners in transit.

Mrs. Eunice Ross Davis, the only surviving member of the Massachusetts woman's anthslavery board, has just celebrated her ninety fourth birthday at her home in Dedham.

Lillian Russell always keeps a dish of boiled carrots on her dressing table, which she eats instead of bonbons With a healthy digestion, nothing is more beneficial for the complexion

Mrs Charles Robinson of Lawrence, Kan, wife of the pioneer governor, told the story of his life the other day to a phonograph cylinder, which is to be preserved by the State Historical society.

Miss Whittier, that was, of Boston is entitled to condolences. She has become the Princess Belleselsky-Bellozersky Perhaps she may find life endurable after she has learned her visiting card by heart.

Mrs. Mullens, a fair, frail and law defying moonshiner, is the pride of Hancock county, Tenn, and when she plumps down the scale at 600 pounds the revenue officers show no strong desire to carry her to jail.

Lizzie Borden and her sister have placed a beautiful monument over the graves of their murdered parents in Oak Grove cemetery, Fall River. It is one of the most costly and artistic structures on the grounds.

Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, with her family, will spend the winter at the Marble House in Newport. This appears to be a change in the Vanderbilt programme, for it generally has been understood the family would go to New York for the winter.

Josephine Suffeenszka Javoska, who is said to be a grandniece of Pulaski, the Polish patriot who fought for this country in the Revolutionary war, and once a countess in St. Petersburg, sells newspapers in front of the postoffice in Brooklyn

Mme. Henri Schneider, wife of the proprietor of the great Creusot iron works, is said to wear the magnificent diamond that was among the crown jewels of France and was sold at public auction at $100,000. She lost the diamond not long ago, and it was found by a street sweeper.

JEWEL AND GEM.

Diamond bracelets are seen in their best state as lacework with a pearl or some other gem as the principal form.

Bows of pale satin ribbon have fine feathery aigrets held by light diamond ornaments. These are for the hair.

The prettiest necklace observed was made of numerous strands of fine gold chain held together by diamond bars

Mercury wings prove to be very adaptable in jewelry. A frequent use is as a brooch of gold and imbedded seed pearls.

The only form of the bowknot seen is double rosette shaped The broad enamel ribbons are ornamented with gold. In the center is a jewel.

A magnificent network sown with pale amethysts and a framework of diamonds held up large fire opals. Another of diamonds held bunches of wistaria of amethyst quartz.

Certainly a novelty was a chatelaine pin made of Mercury wings of seed pearls imbedded in gold, and instead of the usual cherub's head a comical face in enamel under a silk hat.

There is an increasing tendency to mount back combs in plain shell and overlay the ornament on the shell. The design takes definite floral forms, and the flowers are in tinted gold

The wreath brooches grow lovelier and more costly. Two were seen with rubies and emeralds as tiny flowers with diamond leaves. Another was a wreath of emeralds and diamonds tied with a bowknot of diamonds Jewelers' Circular.

Cutaway jackets of velvet are much liked by young girls

The boa seems to be less in demand than the cape or a very stylish collar.

Sleeveless jackets of various materials with passementerie edgings are popular.

A dress of cloth with a narrow moire panel down the front is among the new importations.

Muffs are somewhat larger than heretofore. Many muffs will be used during the coming winter without other furs.

Capes of moire are trimmed with fur collars and lined with bright silk. One of the handsomest of these garments was recently made to order and lined with very stiff brocade

Ermine, from becoming popular, has become a fad, and every woman who has money to buy it wants ermine in some form or other. The only difficulty is its scarcity and extravagantly high price. New York Ledger.

Colorado Springs Exchange.

Colorado Springs, Nov. 19.—The first day of the new week opened up active with nearly 20,000 sales. Contrary to expectations, Mollie Gibson and Argentum J. were both slightly off but the change is thought to be only temporary and in the case of the latter stock was due greatly to a large block that had to be unloaded in a hurry. For activity and strength Work carried off first honors. Several thousand sold in the early part of the call at 2¾ but later on some 15,000 went at 2½, and it closed strong at 2 bid. Pharmacist and Mt. Rosa were both off color and with Summit are the weak stocks on the list. Anaconda and Portland were very inquired after; and both Creede and Cripple Creek and Consolidated are in good demand.

Business started off at the second call but one pleasing feature about it was the calling for the first time of a new stock. This was Bob Lee, which was posted upon just in time to get in for this call and it turned out to be the heaviest trader of the afternoon, with 600 sales. Both Mollie Gibson and Argentum J. closed a little weaker than at the first call without any apparent reason, although it was a paucity of buying orders. Work was once again about the strongest stock on the list and was the second best in point of sales. Summit is picking up a little in the bid price and it is to be hoped that it is the starting of a new life for the stock after its long sleep of lethargy. Pharmacist and Mt. Rosa are decidedly weak, Consolidated and Creede and Cripple Creek firm and Gold and Globe quite strong. The total sales for the day were [illegible].

The separate sales for the first call were: Argentum J., [illegible] at $1.6[illegible], 200 at $1.6[illegible], 600 at $1.6[illegible], 200 at $1.6[illegible], 1?00 at $1.7[illegible], 200 at $1.[illegible], 2100 at $1.[illegible] and 500 at $1.[illegible]; Consolidated, 200 at 2; Creede and Cripple Creek, 400 at 1¾; Fanny Rawlings, 200 at 6¾; Isabella, 500 (stamped) at 18½ and 200 at 17; Mt. Rosa, 200 at 4¼; Mollie Gibson, 100 at $2.70, 100 at $2.62½ and 100 at $2.67½; Pharmacist, 100 at 6¾, Portland, 200 at 30, [illegible] at 30½ and 200 at 31; Work, 1?00 at 2, 15,000 at 2½ and 600 at 2¾. For the second call they were: Argentum J., 200 at $1.6[illegible] and 200 at $1.6[illegible]; Bob Lee, 600 at $6.[illegible] per 1000; Consolidated, 200 at 1¾; Creede and Cripple Creek, 200 at 1¾; Isabella, 100 at 17, Mollie Gibson, [illegible] at $2.[illegible], 100 at $2.6[illegible], 200 at $2.72½; Pharmacist, 100 at 6¾; Summit, 200 at 12¼; Work, 200 at 2¾.

GOLD IN THE CITY.

Prospecting on a Colorado Avenue Lot.

Colorado Springs has its gold mine.

The assay values do not run very high yet but there is gold there for sure and from the present outlook it would seem that it extends over a large area. At present it is in the shape of placer dirt and it shows up gold easily discernible to the naked eye when washed in the pan.

Five minutes ride in the electric cars will bring one to the new diggings and those traveling westward go within 100 feet of them. To be more precise, placer dirt and bowlders assaying several dollars have been discovered on a lot on Colorado avenue. It is lot 4, in block 1, in the West Bluff addition to Colorado Springs, and the block is bounded by Belle View avenue, Colorado avenue, Bear Creek road and Limit street.

Lot 4 is owned by Mr. Phillip Bernhard. He has been in this State for over 20 years, and though he is a shoemaker by trade, he has done a good deal of prospecting in his time. Mr. Bernhardt recently erected a building on his lot and started a cellar beneath it. His knowledge of prospecting led him to watch the stuff that he threw out and it soon became apparent to him that there was a probability of gold from the look of the float that he uncovered. Amongst the dirt thrown out are a quality of bowlders and one of these were given for assay and gave the promising returns of $3.50 in gold and $7.00 in silver to the ton. Then came the placer dirt which appears for the most part, to be composed of black sand and decomposed granite. The assays on this are also encouraging but Mr. Bernhard appears to be in error of their real value. He holds an assay by Messrs. Milner & Brown which shows $44.40 to the ton, but instead of coming from the dirt direct The Gazette man learns upon investigation that the assay was made from the concentrates (in this case black sand) from a full pan of dirt, so that the value of the native dirt is materially reduced and instead of being worth over $40 to the ton, its value, in fact, is something under $5.

It has been known to The Gazette for some weeks past that gold assays had been obtained from rock or float picked up within the limits of Colorado Springs. Two or three months ago Mr. Prentice, of the brokerage firm of Harriot & Prentice, picked up some very likely looking stuff on the corner of Belle View and Limit street and one piece was so good that he had it assayed and Milner & Brown gave $2.88 to the ton on it. Mr. Prentice says that there is now in the road a large piece of beautiful looking honeycombed rock from which he has broken a piece. This gentleman has taken considerable notice of these various signs and states that he has traced the float for over two miles and believes that it runs towards Cheyenne mountain.

The float on its way to Cheyenne can be traced across Mr. Flannigan's ranch and here the owner, close to the prevalent craze for gold mining, has a man at work pushing a tunnel into the hillside and large quantities of talc are shown with seams of quartz running through it. It may be remembered that Mr. De Remardy and his orchestra had a claim staked near Cheyenne mountain last summer and did some work upon it. They got some very fair assays from the rock and talked of continuing work next year.

The finding of gold on Colorado avenue has caused considerable excitement in that locality, and it is understood that some of Mr. Bernhard's near neighbors will start digging to-morrow. The Gazette man obtained some of the decomposed matter with the object of panning it but was unable to do so last night owing to darkness setting in. Messrs. Milner & Brown state that they obtained quite a nice little button from the concentrates but it must be remembered that it is concentrates and not crude ore.

Curb Sales.

Business was bright on the curb yesterday with the trading in a variety of stocks of which Mutual was the most active, with 27,000 reported sold. Union weakened off a little during the day and closed at 5½ and 10, and Enterprise was also weaker. The brokers made good use of their time with Bob Lee in the morning and turned over 10,000. It has now blossomed out on the Exchange and has bid fare-well to the curb list.

F. C. Fletcher & Co., mining and investment brokers, 28½ North Tejon street. Cripple Creek stocks a specialty.

Weekly Letter Extracts.

Mr. Frank H. Pettingell in his last weekly letter says: "The speculative condition governing the local mining stock market has never been more flattering than at present. The Exchange sales for this week far surpass anything before in its history, aggregating 437,226 shares, representing many thousands of dollars. This amount exceeds that of any preceding week in the life of this institution. The indications from every standpoint are that the volume of transactions will steadily increase almost indefinitely.

It is practically certain that we will not experience a reaction similar to that which has recently taken place in industrials on Eastern exchanges. Those closely interested are daily in receipt of numerous outside buying instructions, accompanied by various inquiries from every part of the country. This assisted by local dealings is having a favorable effect upon everything. The present prosperous state of affairs was generally anticipated, and many were awaiting the result of the recent election."

E. C. Fletcher & Co. in their weekly stock letter say: "The change of feeling in stock circles has been remarkable. The market has developed steadily increasing activity during the past 10 days, the investment and speculative demand reaching larger proportions than for many months. Timidity is fast disappearing. The disinclination to put money into the mining interests of this State has been succeeded, as we intimated last week would be the case, by an emphatic change of sentiment, and, as is well known, sentiment often makes the largest markets. Indications here all point to the certainty that capital is once more emerging from its hiding place and seeking profitable employment. The effects from this time forward, on investments and on general confidence, can hardly fail to be very important, and we look for a strengthening of values that will later develop into a still more active and rising market for stocks. The Nugget company owns the Katherine, immediately adjoining the famous dividend payer Elkton and having 125 feet of the Elkton vein. Another valuable claim owned by this company is the Elizabeth Cooper. Within 40 feet of the end line of this claim a rich vein has been opened which the Nugget company expect to get. There is in the treasury 50,000 and 125,000 shares of stock. The company will pay a dividend this month."

The Denver Pit.

Special to The Gazette.

Denver, Nov. 19.—Business in the pit this morning was of the most active character, both the pit and the outside rails were crowded with people and more business was transacted than on any other day since the regulations were put into operation.

The strongest and most active stock was Bangkok. On Saturday this stock stood at 18 bid, but to-day it rapidly rose to 23. The excitement about this stock among the brokers was intense; they tumbled over each other in their wild attempts to purchase. In all, 25,200 shares changed hands at from 20 to 23 cents. The entire list showed strength but exception must be made to Mollie Gibson and A. J. Boston and Idaho exhibited great strength and climbed up one-half a cent; Globe and Globe was in big demand at 4¾ but there was none to be had. Pharmacist, Mt. Rosa and Work especially the latter were stronger.

Special to The Gazette.

Denver, Nov. 19.—The week opened quietly at the local branch mint, most of the gold coming from "Colorado Unknown," the deposit being 600 ounces out of a total of ... The following are the deposits: San Juan, 25 ounces; Lake, 29 ounces, Gilpin, 25 ounces; Summit, 6 ounces. San Miguel, 67 ounces; South Dakota, 11 ounces, and New Mexico, 30 ounces.

Current News.

Nugget will be the next dividend payer.

Placer mining within the limits of Colorado Springs is the latest.

The exchange started out with a 60,000 day.

Mining exchange banquet to Hon. Irving Howbert to-night. There will be a big crowd.

Two off-board sales were reported yesterday. They were Pharmacist, 200 at 7, and Isabella, 200 at 17½.

Bob Lee was finally listed with the Exchange yesterday and was called for the first time in the afternoon.

The lessees on the Captain lode are jubilant, having netted $1,000 for two week's labor. Messrs. Baylor and Todd are the lessees.

The Banta claim, property of the Trail Mining Co., is taking out $40 ore from a 30 foot shaft. Improvements are being made in the way of a shaft house and engine room.

David C. King and the Hollingsworth Brothers who have been working a claim near the Caledonia for some time, ran into a vein of ore 10 inches wide which runs $1,078 to the ton.

The caller perpetrated a jokelet yesterday. Someone wanted a "split" marked up on the board. He said he guessed it had better not be. "It might injure the board." He was forgiven.

The Nugget people bring their ore to the surface through the Elkton shaft, so the Elkton people have a fine opportunity to observe the character of the ore, and Mr. Shemwell says it is the same vein, and just as good ore as the Elkton, and predicts that the Nugget will declare a dividend within 30 days. He bought a good block within the past few days and paid a good round figure for the same.

The new stamp mill at McCourt will start up this week and if the test of the new process prove as satisfactory as is expected it will prove a blessing to the district. It is expected that ore which will run $2 a ton and over can be treated at a profit. It is to be hoped that the anticipations of the promoters may be realized. Dr. Whiting, Peter McCourt, Ben Brooks and Percy Stephenson are the proprietors of the mill (Crusher.

Mr. Irving Howbert, who is at the head of the committee which has charge of the affairs of the Anaconda company, in discussing matters yesterday gave a very good report of the company. The Anaconda has been doing a great deal of development work and at the same time getting out good ore—that work they shipped to the smelters four cars of ore and since the first of the month have shipped eight cars of ore, or at the rate of one car every two days. Besides this they are getting out a large quantity of ore and piling it up to be treated at the new Florence reduction works when that is ready. Considerable ore is also being sent to the stamp mills. A winze has been started which will connect with the big tunnel and work is being pushed on the various drifts. The extensive litigation between the Anaconda and the Grace Greenwood, which was the first suit started after the Cripple Creek discovery, was settled by agreement last week and Mr. Howbert says that this will be a great thing for all concerned as the litigation was very expensive. The Grace Greenwood people can go to work immediately as well as the Anaconda. The Anaconda directors expect to push their work vigorously opening up the claims that have been tied up. This settles the last of the Anaconda suits and there is now nothing to interfere with the patenting of all the claims. The Grace Greenwood recognizes the prior rights of the Anaconda in the Kittie M., Lone Star No. 2, the Hub and the Excelsior. Mr. Howbert says that from the little fraction of the company's holdings that have been opened up there has already been produced ore enough to bring in more money than the whole property is selling for at the present price of stock.

Real Estate Bargains.

A vacant business corner, suitable for a good building, at old time prices if bought right now. Worth the investigation of any-one seeking a sound proposition.

A good house of ten rooms, heated, lighted, sewer connection, steel range, corner lot, fine neighborhood, on one of the best streets north. Is offered at about $1500 under real value, and is our best bargain in a modern residence.

A business property, right near the center, 190 feet deep, at $500 per front foot. Is well rented, and is by odds the cheapest thing in the business district.

We have a great proposition for a speculator in a large tract of agricultural land with full water rights. About $60,000 involved in the deal, but not much cash required. Will take real estate in this city as part pay.

Money to loan. We have plenty of money for good applications.

THE MARKETS.

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER IN LATE TRADING.

Stocks Opened Lower but Rose Toward the Close to Advances Over Saturday's Prices—Wheat and Corn Both Weak with Declining Prices.

New York, Nov. 19.—Money on call has been easy at 1 per cent Prime mercantile paper, 3@4 per cent. Bar silver, 63¼. Sterling exchange is firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4 86@4 86¼ for 60 days, and $4 87½@4 87½ for demand. Posted rates, $4 87½@4 87½. Commercial bills, $4 87@4 87½. Government bonds have been firm. State bonds dull Railroad bonds lower.

Stocks opened lower in sympathy with a decline in London and then improved. The rally in the general list was merely fractional, but Jersey Central sold up 1⅞ to 93½. Following this the brokers of the big bear leaders sold the Grangers and Chicago Gas heavily and under the pressure the market yielded heavily. The break in the Grangers was due to poor earnings of the St. Paul reported last week and to rumors that the Burlington and Quincy will reduce its dividend at the meeting of the directors to be held in Boston this week The break in Chicago Gas was ascribed to the enforced absence by sickness of the leading operator alleged to be in charge of the market interests of the property, rather than to any change in the condition of the company. In the late trading there was a decided change for the better, owing to an effort on the part of the bears to cover up shorts in American Sugar. The supply of the stock was much smaller than anticipated, and the price, owing to the urgency of the demand from recent speculative sellers moved up rapidly to 89⅞ In sympathy with the general list improved ¼ to 1¼ Manhattan, the Grangers, Louisville and Nashville, Reading, Southern Pacific preferred were all prominent in the late recovery. Manhattan was in better request on reports of increasing business The closing was firm in tone with prices for the active issues anywhere from ¼ to 1¾ per cent above Saturday's finals. Union Pacific, Western Union, Louisville and Nashville lost ⅛@¼ per cent In the inactive stocks Pullman Palace declined 1½ to $1 56½ and Consolidated Gas gained as much, selling up to $1.22. United States Cordage preferred fell ¼ to 16½ and rose to 18 The guaranteed stock, which was offered at 37 on Saturday at the stock exchange was at 59¾. Total sales to-day amounted to 201,412 shares.

The bond market was moderately active and lower. Sales were $1,315,000.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The Liverpool cables were again higher on wheat this morning, the curb trading here taking strength from them with the regular opening maintaining the unofficial gain of ½ cent made, but prices soon exhibited a declining tendency on the Northwestern receipts of 1,366 cars against 1,217 on the corresponding day a year ago Early indications of the visible supply increase gave evidence that the predictions of Saturday had been placed too low, further weakness resulting therefrom, lower closing contributing the discouraged feeling. Last week's buyers were, to all appearances, not impressed with the stability of the market, free realizing by outsiders and local operators going on during the most of the session New York was prominently selling, and it was believed that Pardridge was assured of the wisdom of "short" sales and added to his line. The amount on ocean passage increased 616,000 bushels and the visible supply 1,062,000 bushels. Receipts at Chicago were 92 cars. Export clearances of wheat and flour were 222,756 bushels and 62,214 bushels were taken from store at this point. Berlin closing cables were higher, Antwerp unchanged and Paris was not heard from. May wheat opened from 61¾ to 61¾, declined to 60⅝@60¾, closing at 60⅝ ½ cent lower than Saturday. Estimated receipts for to-morrow 150 cars.

Corn—The corn bulls have either sold out and transferred their operations to other articles or have gone over to the bear side unconditionally, it being most difficult to find any one who believed in present prices for that grain to-day. Liverpool cables were lower and their influence coupled with good receipts, 431 cars, started prices weak, and they remained in that condition during the balance of the day. The amount on ocean passage increased 352,000 and the visible snupply 127,000 bushels Withdrawals from store were 99,000 bushels and export clearances 6,238 bushels. The estimated receipts for to-morrow, 320 cars, added further depression to the market May corn opened at 49⅞, declined to 49¼, where it closed ⅝@¾ under Saturday.

FOOTBALLISMS.

The athletic student's sphere at present is the football.

He who coaches a football team never takes them driving.

When the ball is up, there is no skating, notwithstanding the signal.

There is a distinction with a difference between football and the ball of the foot.

The "half back," be it remembered, only feigns deformity for athletic purposes.

Business men who take quick lunch ought to make good "rushers" on a team.

There is something footballish about electric bells, because they are a "touch down."

He who plays "grand guard" has at the end of the game a more struck by lightning than military appearance.

"Quarter back" in the team has nothing to do with the return of 25 cents, as the unsophisticated suppose.

Allowing mules to have understanding, how they must inwardly laugh at the insignificant kicks of even the best players!

Buffalo Bill's bucking ponies cannot do it better than some of the literally headstrong college players of the day. New York Advertiser.

A Barrier.

"Regina, will you not marry me?" cried the young man in tones of anxious longing.

"No, Harold," said the beautiful young voter. "It can never be. Join the political party to which I belong, or else we part to meet no more." Chicago Record.

WHY? WHY? WHY?

BECAUSE I own my own studio and have no high rent for you to pay.
BECAUSE my negatives were destroyed by fire, and it will pay me to make special inducements to replace them.
BECAUSE my home is here and I must please you in order to have you come again, and I want your permanent trade
BECAUSE my work is up to date, no need to go to Denver for the latest styles
BECAUSE my backgrounds and accessories are all new, stylish, elegant.
BECAUSE my skylight and instruments are the best in the city.
BECAUSE the material for a good picture costs little more than that in a poor one, therefore for a short time I will make my best work at very reasonable prices. Come and see. Visitors welcome.

OUR NEW LIST

Examine Carefully.

I consider there is only one proper way to advertise that pays, viz: to do it truthfully and candidly, not to misrepresent either through the newspapers or in your store, or allow your employees to do so. How far I have succeeded in adopting this method my crowded store testifies.
